

"Dad" Elliott to Address Big Meeting Sunday at High School

SUFFERING DUE TO EVIL HABITS

"The Prisoner Set Free" is Topic of Sermon by Rev. A. H. Kenna.

"The Prisoner Set Free" was the subject of the message delivered by Rev. A. H. Kenna to the congregation of the Epworth Memorial M. E. church last night. A feature of the musical program was a five-piece orchestra directed by A. Dyke. The orchestra and pipe organ accompanied the chorus singing.

The text was taken from the words of Paul, "Oh, wretched man that I am, who shall deliver me from the body of this death?" and his answer, "I thank God, through Jesus Christ, our Lord."

"Many people," said the speaker, "reach the point when they say, 'I'll quit.' They write a few lines to a father, a mother or a friend, and with their own hand commit the crime which they think will end the whole proposition."

"There are men who are so bound by evil habits that the very vitals of their lives are eaten out. They have lost their self-respect, brought shame and disgrace on those dear to them, but, worst of all, they have continued in sin."

"I see a man every day going forth to town and coming back, and I wonder what is his message. I find out that it is to drink of that damnable beverage which is ruining Christian life."

"I read in the paper of divorce cases and find that the reason was this same beverage which makes men forget their natural chivalry toward the opposite sex. There are institutions, I know, which claim to cure men of the habit of drink, but the men who come out of them are seldom cured."

Speaking of men and women who could not control their tongues, Rev. Kenna said that they caused turmoil and confusion in any organization, and that when they were reprimanded would say that they could not help talking in that manner. The remedy, asserted the speaker, was the same as that in the case of Paul, who found his in God.

A special service for children to be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock will be a feature of the revival. A children's program will be arranged. This is the first time such a service has been attempted. Tonight Rev. Kenna will speak on "The Elder Brother."

AVOID SATAN'S WILES WITH ARMOR OF GOD

Rev. Cecil Castle Speaks to Large Audience at Linden Ave. Church.

The text of Rev. Cecil Castle of the Linden Avenue Christian church last night was taken from the 11th verse of the Ephesians, "Put ye on the whole armor of God that ye may be able to stand the wiles of the devil." There is only one conversion, he said, in part:

"There is armor enough for all of us to fight the battle of life and they may defy the shots of Satan."

"The only thing the people fear is God, and that is because they may lose Him."

"The first necessity is the girle of truth."

"Stay close to God, for He is truth Himself."

"We must not forget to practice self-denial, which is an admirable virtue as well as duty."

"God also loves sinners, but not their ways. He is using you as angel messengers to spread His faith."

"Always wear this girle of truth about your loins."

"The breast plate of righteousness is another essential part of the armor. It makes us immune to the darts shot by Satan."

"God said, 'Blessed are they that are persecuted for righteousness.'"

"The sandals of peace are very important, as they keep fear away from us, but they are no good without the other parts of the armor."

"The helmet of salvation protects us from sin and makes our mind invulnerable."

"If we wear this armor, Satan's attacks are in vain."

FEAR KEEPS MANY MEN FROM CONFESSING CHRIST

Supreme Duty of Man is to Do God's Will Says Pastor.

"Salvation is a present deliverance from the call of sin," said Rev. A. W. Smith in his sermon at the River Park M. E. church last night. Rev. C. J. Jordan of North Liberty, will preach at tonight's services. Rev. Smith's subject last night was "Confession and Salvation."

"We are holding these meetings in this revival to bring salvation. Sin keeps man out of heaven. If he gets into heaven he must do the will of God. The supreme duty of man is to do God's will. Sin makes man un-submissive to God, but God can and does deliver him from sin so he can do His will."

"We must confess Jesus as our Saviour before men. There are many people today who believe Jesus is the Son of God that are unsaved because they have not accepted Jesus as their Saviour. Many people do not make a confession of Christ because of fear."

Salvation After Death is the Devil's Theory

"It is the devil's theory that there is a chance to get right with God after death," said the Rev. W. S. Bell, the Pacific coast evangelist, at the First Brethren church last night. His sermon was termed "The Three Inevitables: Death, Judgment and Eternity," and was taken from the text, "It is appointed unto men once to die, but after then the judgment."

"You will all admit that we are doomed to die sooner or later. There is no chance for an argument on that score. Under the natural law of life we have no control over death, but we have control over our actions by your freedom of will. Even a heathen has the God instinct, although he is not aware of the presence of a soul within his body. Perhaps, too, they do believe in a hereafter, but it is necessary that we Christians do more than realize this truth? We must pray and work every day for our own salvation. Death is uncertain. Many strong men defy God throughout life, but on their death beds they always cry out to God, 'Save me! Save me! Have mercy, O Lord.'"

Evangelist Bell announced the subject of his sermon for tonight as "The Devil's Auction Block."

LIFE OF PETER IS BASIS FOR SERMON
Come-Back of Peter Showed His Real Character Says Rev. Walter White.

Just as the failure of Apostle Peter to keep his pledges made to the Master in the garden and sound-ed out as a warning the "danger signals" of too much confidence, as emphasized by Dr. Walter White Wednesday night, so did Peter's "come back," displaying sterling qualities of character bespeak the real fundamental principles that the apostle had at heart and point the way for a life of redemption."

Dr. White followed his powerful sermon of Wednesday night with a continuation of the life of Peter as a basis for his sermon of last night at the First Christian church.

One epigram was thrown out by the speaker. "Remember that there is enough good back somewhere in your life to challenge the best in you." This statement was made in connection with the minister's attempt to show that Peter in beginning his great work after he had thrice denied the Master, and had broken his pledges, with the full consciousness of his sins, began rec-tying them immediately.

He said in part:

"It was the way of Peter, when after casting himself in the very lowest, most degraded, form of society, to think back on his evil ways. The next step in his transformation to a man of power was to decide that he must resolve to follow a better life. That was decision. The last step is the doing, with its inevitable result."

"Peter's re-consecration was the greatest of all acts in the history of this apostle. It takes a big man to repent. The man of little character, uncharitable, small and narrow, confined to a small sphere of thought, may repent—but the repentance is not for long. It is a matter of but the moment. The great call of God is the most im-minent thing in all the world."

"There will be a place for each one of you later on. The thing to do is to make good, to square your-self with Him."

Dr. White will speak tonight on "Things Personal in Salvation." This is his last talk in South Bend during the present campaign, his health compelling him to return to his home in Cedar Rapids, Ia.

GOD'S LOVE HINGED AROUND BY TRUTHS

Rev. W. H. Freshley Tells of Great Truth in Sermon Last Night.

About the one central truth that God is love hinges all the other truths and teachings in which we believe, said Rev. W. H. Freshley, pastor of the First Church of the Evangelical association, during his sermon last night.

"As the sun is the center of our universe, so this one truth is the center of all the other truths," he continued.

The subject of Rev. Freshley's sermon was "The Core of the Gospel."

"There are four distinct proofs that God is love," Rev. Freshley said. "In the first place, the fact that He pardons and forgives sin is an evidence of the fact. Secondly, the fact that He takes our sins into account and punishes sin is a proof. In the third place, God sympathizes with us in sorrow, troubles and trials. The fourth proof of the truth is that God has and does bestow gifts upon us, the chief one of which was the sacrifice of His own Son that we might be saved."

In discussing his first two points Rev. Freshley used the father and mother of children as examples. He said that if the parents love their children, they will pardon them and forgive them and will take the young ones into account and punish them for wrong doings. So it is with God, he declared.

DEVIL IS AFRAID OF TWO THINGS

Hates the Scripture and Prayer Declares Rev. Arthur V. Babbs.

"The devil is supremely afraid of two things," declared Rev. Arthur V. Babbs in his sermon at the Still Memorial M. E. church last evening. "He is afraid of the scriptures and he is afraid of prayer," continued the speaker. "We can resist and defeat the devil by keeping away from all temptations and places where we know that temptations linger. One of the best ways of resisting the en-emies of the soul is to take refuge in God." Rev. Babbs chose his text from the quotation, "Resist the devil and he will flee from you. Draw nigh to God and He will draw nigh to you," James 4:7-8.

"How may we resist Satan?" continued Rev. Babbs. "By firmly saying 'no' to the doubts he suggests. It is well for us to form this habit of mind; for by believing God and His promises we suggested doubts our doubts after awhile will leave us. We can resist Satan by giving up Godless companions. The failure to do this accounts for the shipwrecks some men make after conver-sion. They cling to wicked asso-ciates and so are drawn back into the old evil life. 'Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, etc. He that walketh with wise men shall be wise; but a companion of fools shall be destroyed.'—Prov. 13:20."

"Infinite damage is going to be done to Satan's empire if prayer is said. Prayer and the scriptures are the two deadly enemies of Satan. With each repetition of true prayer we grow stronger and stronger and hence we become better Christians. If we expect to become better Chris-tians we must indulge in prayer fre-quently, read the scriptures with earnestness, and give up all of our evil companions. It is folly for us to go to the places where we know temptations can be found."

"After you become a Christian it is your profound duty to join a church. You must join the church which you feel is best suited to your own belief and honest convictions. We do not insist upon you joining the Methodist church, but join some church. We extend to you an invita-tion to join our church."

JUDAS' FALL WAS ALL FOR MONEY

Money, which caused the down-fall of Judas, is proving the nemesis of men today, blinding them and in-ducing them to deny Christ on all occasions. This fact was brought out by a warning of Evangelist J. C. Ludgate at the Grace M. E. church last night, the subject, "The Man Who Went Out After Dark," being drawn from the text, John 13:30, "Judas went out and it was dark."

The seventh of a series of 16 lec-tures on the "Sermon on the Mount" was given yesterday afternoon. The last afternoon meeting of the week will be this afternoon. Tonight is Brotherhood night, at which seats will be reserved for 200 men. To-night's subject is "The Man Who Spoke After He Was Dead."

The man who went out after dark proved to be Judas, who sold his Lord for 30 pieces of silver. Dr. Ludgate attempted to prove that Judas had not reckoned with the dire consequences of his act. When it is said that as he left the supper chamber, after Christ had given him of the sop as a token of the one who was going to betray Him, and "went out into the dark," it has a spiritual meaning, as well as a phys-ical meaning, in that Judas had turned his back on his God after having had the privilege of being a co-worker of Christ.

"Judas' downfall was not a sud-den fall," continued Rev. Ludgate, "but a gradual one, as the scrip-tures prove. Suffering from the re-buke that Christ had given him at the last supper, it grieved him still more that Mary should anoint the feet of Jesus at a cost of 300 pence, or what is now $45, and which he considered a waste of money. He conceived of the plan of betraying Jesus to refill the treasury of the apostles, of which he had charge. For this purpose he went to the high priests, the enemies of Jesus, and drove the bargain of the bet-rayal for 30 pieces of silver."

Biblical Story is Proof There is A Will Contends Minister

"People don't like to believe that there is a hell, and so many profess to disbelieve in it. They say it was a thing used to scare people in the middle ages and it cannot be proved by science that such a place exists. But God said there was such a place, and He must have meant what He said, for God would not be God if He could lie to us. At any rate, I feel safe in believing it, for if there is such a place and I shun it, I am safe; but if there is such a place and I do not shun it I will be punished."

"However, if there is not such a place and I shun it I am on the safe side anyway," said the Rev. Walter C. Morris at the Wesleyan M. E. church as an introduction to his sermon founded on the story of Lazarus and the rich man, told in the 16th chapter of Luke.

"This is a story and not a parable," he said, "for there is no difference. This is told by Christ as a fact and we must accept it as such. The parables are told after an explanatory phrase such as 'The kingdom of God is like unto this' or 'The kingdom of God is like unto that'."

The speaker, "We can resist and defeat the devil by keeping away from all temptations and places where we know that temptations linger. One of the best ways of resisting the en-emies of the soul is to take refuge in God." Rev. Babbs chose his text from the quotation, "Resist the devil and he will flee from you. FEWER SUICIDES BY TALKING HELL

Evangelist Champion Says Life Held Cheaply Because of Teachings.

"If there were more talk on hell there would be less suicides," be-gan Evangelist Champion in a rip-ping tirade upon "no hell" teachings at the Trinity M. E. church last evening.

"Men hold life cheaply because they hold hell cheaply. It seems unkind to interrupt the pleasure and sin of men by talking hell to them, but in reality it is the kindest of all acts." The evangelist stated that straight, plain "hell" preaching was what the world needed as badly as it did anything.

"Preach hell and calamity to those who reject God," Rev. Champion likened the preacher of hell and calamity to a fireman on a railroad, who, discovering a bridge washout, rushes up the track with a lantern just in time to save the train from plunging into the river below. "Does the engineer censure and blame the fireman for stopping his train? No, he will throw his arms about the man who saved his life. The same holds true for a thousand times so in regard to the minister of the gospel."

In regard to the belief of many noted and learned men who hold to the "no hell" preaching, Rev. Champion avowed that "all the anti-hell preaching in the world will no more do away with hell than will a drop of water on a stove put out the fire within."

The fact that Christ, Noah, Lot and Jeremiah were alone in their belief regarding the respective destruction of Jerusalem, Sodom, Juda, etc., was used by the evangelist as a proof that "intelligent people's belief is not always right."

"One of the most noted of today's exponents of 'no-hell' theories has been divorced four times and is at present in trouble as the result of charges by a 16-year-old girl."

That the idea that the road to heaven was a harder road to travel than the road to perdition was ridiculed by the speaker. "Man has to trample upon the word of God to go to hell," said the evangelist in conclusion.

Rev. Champion stated that on Sunday a special service, beginning at 2:30, will be held for women only.

GOD NEVER SENT A SOUL DOWN TO HELL

Man Cannot be Neutral on Question of Jesus Christ Says Minister.

"God never sends a soul to hell and never will but men get there themselves," said Rev. Conn at Westminster church last night. "If men reject Jesus Christ they will finally go to their own place. Eter-nal life and eternal death are never past in the past tense in the Bible but are in the present, many be-lieve that we can be neutral on the question of Jesus Christ, but you are either for or against him. 'What think you of Jesus Christ? If we would have to suffer more today we would think more about Jesus Christ and His teachings. Thank God that Jesus Christ will receive sinners and will accept you.' In conclusion the minister told of the preaching life of Jesus Christ."

Rev. Conn delivered a bitter tirade against the Catholic and Lutheran churches last night. He intimated that their theology was that of the 16th century, that the leaders of the Catholic church be-lieved more in custom than worship. The lecture this evening will be for men only, and the lecture on Saturday afternoon will be for every one. At the service on Saturday evening the Quincy Street Baptist church will hold union services with the Westminster church and union services will be held at the former next Monday evening.
